

ANNOTATION

Bisiuk M.-N. V. Financial and economic diagnostics of the enterprise economic activity results in order to improve its functioning in a competitive environment (on the example of "Meat Products"). - Manuscript.

Research on education and qualification level "Master" in the specialty 8.03050801 "Finance and Credit" – TNTU.- Ternopil, 2015.

The object of research – features of the the implementation of the financial and economic diagnosis of LLC "Meat products".

The purpose of the research – theoretical, methodical and practical conceptual foundations substantiation of the of financial and economic diagnosis of the economic activity of LLC "Meat products".

Methods: historical, economic; system approach; analysis and synthesis; comparative and structural; economic and statistical analysis; formalization; structural logic simulation; economic and mathematical modeling.

The article is discussed the conceptual foundations of financial and economic diagnosis of the economic activity of the company. The economic activities results of LLC "Meat products" are researched. The ways to improve the economic effectiveness of LLC "Meat products" are presented.

Keywords: financial condition; Financial and economic diagnostics; fundamental analysis; financial evaluation; economic results; financial results; profitability; financial stability; financial activity.